Last Tory Cries Show Their Weakness In Mr. Ryan

THE WATER SUPPLY

Inspector General Discusses Engineer's Report

Inspector General's Office,
March 11th, 1921.
(To the Editor)

Dear Mr. Editor,—I notice in the report of proceedings at the City Commissioners meeting of yesterday, respecting the water supply at the Palace fire, has been withheld from its statements. As the Commissioners did not see fit to investigate the statements of the City Engineer before publishing his report, I fail to see why my communication which has been in the Council's office since Tuesday last, should be further held over, and I would therefore thank you to publish same in your next issue. I enclose a copy for that purpose.

Yours sincerely,
CHAS. H. HUTCHINGS,
Inspector General Constabulary.

Inspector General's Office,
March 8th, 1921.
W. G. Gosling, Esq.,
Mayor.

Sir,—I have read with considerable interest, but with some disappointment, the report of City Engineer Ryan, on the Water Supply at the Palace fire. I regret I am unable to congratulate him on his display of either practical experience, or technical knowledge in fire fighting, nor am I able to point out some of the errors in his report. I would like to point out some of the errors in his report. I would like to point out some of the errors in his report. I would like to point out some of the errors in his report.

RUPPRECHT MAY BE MONARCH ONCE MORE.

Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria and Princess Charlotte, his wife, photographed a short time ago in Berlin. A cable to the New York Times says that Bavaria is awaiting an opportunity to declare herself as a separate kingdom. If there is any truth in the despatch, Prince Rupprecht would then be proclaimed the King of Bavaria.

Germans Discuss Events of London Reparation Conference

BERLIN, Mar. 11.—Foreign Minister Simons discussed the events of the London reparation conference with the foreign relations committee of the Reichstag until late last evening when the session was adjourned until to-day. Although the deliberations were supposed to be confined to the cabinet and committee members only it was observed that Hugo Sünnes, who was one of the Government's pre-conference advisers, also was present. After the meeting ended it was learned that Dr. Simons admitted having exceeded the limit which German experts thought safe in presenting counter proposals to the Entente and also that he was more optimistic than his colleagues regarding Germany's ability to float an international loan. Dr. Karl Helfferich, former Secretary of the Treasury, also a Nationalist, and Dr. Gustave Straßmann, of the People's Party, were among the Foreign Minister's critics. The Reichstag on Saturday will discuss the situation resulting from the failure of London negotiations.

Russian Humour!

WARSAW, Mar. 11.—Leon Trotsky, Russian Soviet War Minister, according to Russians here who are in daily touch with their country, has offered a reward of five million rubles for the body, dead or alive, of Gen. Koslovsky, the revolutionary leader in Petrograd region. General Koslovsky's return is reported to have offered ten rubles for Trotsky's body. It is pointed out here that a million rubles is now worth about 50 dollars. A dozen more insurrections are in progress throughout Russia and the anti-Bolshevik movement is daily encouraging other uprisings, say local Russians who they assert to-day are gaining confidence of the ultimate success of the counter revolutionary movement as they learn of fresh anti-Soviet forces appearing from Odessa northward.

U. S. Railways Reduce

CHICAGO, March 11.—Wage reduction proposals, affecting thousands of men, were officially announced yesterday by particularly every western railway with headquarters in Chicago.

Allies Withdrew

BERLIN, March 11.—Allied detachments which Wednesday night occupied Hamburg, were reported in news papers as having been withdrawn yesterday.

Germans Have Paid Many Claims Made

LONDON, Feb. 19.—During the past four months about 30,000 claims of British creditors against German debtors in respect of war debts, have been settled, involving payments amounting to £12,000,000. In addition about £5,000,000 has been paid to English creditors in respect of the proceeds of the liquidation of property in Germany (i.e., businesses, &c.), making a total of £17,000,000.

The total of the claims which the ex-enemy Clearing House expects to deal with in the course of its career is estimated to number 300,000, involving an aggregate sum of about £100,000,000, including interest and compensation; so that it will be seen that 10 per cent. of the number of claims have been dealt with. These claims represent not only English claims, but claims from all parts of the Empire.

MENTIONED IN DESPATCHES

Exports From Rhineland To Holland Have Ceased

AMSTERDAM, March 11.—Exports from the Rhineland to Holland have stopped altogether says the Essen correspondent of the Rotterdam newspapers, neither buyers or purchasers being willing to risk the imposition of A lies tax levies.

Kronstadt Messages

LONDON, March 11.—Revolutionary authorities in Kronstadt have sent an ultimatum to the Soviet authorities in Petrograd, demanding the surrender of the city before March 25, on peril of a general bombardment.

Shot While Conversing With Young Women

BELFAST, Mar. 11.—Three auxiliary policemen from the Gormahstown Depot in Dublin, used for British troops, were shot outside a music hall here this evening while conversing with several young women. The group of men who did the shooting were not identified. The wounded men died shortly after their admission to hospital.

Leaders of Russian Revolt Are Not Politicians

LONDON, Mar. 11.—Leaders of the revolutionary movement now developing in Russia are entirely unknown in Russian political circles, which indicates that the movement is not political and one of the broad masses of Russian people themselves, according to Antolin Banwaloff, President of the group of Russian Social Democrats in London. M. Bankaloff to-day communicated to the British Labor leaders important private information which has filtered into Russian political and commercial circles in London from what he characterized as most reliable sources of information in Russia.

Another Town Occupied

LONDON, March 11.—Oberhausen, six miles east of Ruhrort and seven miles Northwest of Essen, has been entered by the Allies, according to a Central News despatch from Paris. The entry was made without incident.

on a line of hose 300 feet long is 22 lbs. I presume he is quoting from a recognized authority, but before I admit its correctness, it must satisfy myself that the calculations are on a basis similar to facts existing at the fire in question; from standpoint of my contentions, I trust he is right. The pressure at the hydrant at the head of Garrison Hill at the time of the fire, Mr. Ryan says, was 50 lbs. If anything it was less; it certainly wasn't more. We had 300 feet of hose on this line; deducting the friction loss of 22 lbs., leaves a running pressure of only 28 lbs. But now what about elevation loss. A stream loses nearly one pound for every two feet elevation; the elevation from the Garrison Hill hydrant level, to the level of the top storey of the Palace, where the water flow was first found inadequate is 53 feet 6 inches, the actual reduction of pressure consequent thereon was 23½ lbs.; and this 23½ lbs. loss to the 22 lbs. loss for friction, what is the result? A pressure on the top storey of the Palace, where the fire had its origin, of 4½ lbs. And here, I would like to inform the City Commissioners, and through them the City Engineer, that the two lines of hose first run out the one from Garrison Hill hydrant, and the one from the Barracks Yard hydrant, went immediately to the top flat of the Palace and didn't have a yard of surplus, in fact both lines were "tamt," and were brought as near the fire as the firemen could approach with safety. It was at this point that the short flow of water was felt, and had the pressure been 70 or 75 lbs. at the Garrison Hill hydrant, instead of 50 lbs., the one stream would have been more than ample to overcome the flames, and confine them to the rooms on the East side of the attic hallway. During one of my tests the pressure at this hydrant was 75 lbs., the flowing pressure at the nozzle (admitting Mr. Ryan's friction loss estimate to be correct) was 29½ lbs.

I would like also to inform the Commissioners, that when the City Engineer was asked by Superintendent Dunn, after consultation with me on the top flat of the building, to give us more pressure, the two streams last mentioned were the only ones laid out. The alarm came in at 3.15 a.m. and it was within a half hour that this request was made, and not at 4.15 as Mr. Ryan states.

I would like to be informed and no doubt the public would also, why Mr. Ryan, when he received a request from the responsible official of the Fire Department, Supt. Dunn, did not immediately issue orders for the water to be diverted from the lower levels to the higher, to give the firemen the pressure they required at that particular moment. I know such a request has not been made since the new service has been put in. All the more reason for the City Engineer realizing that Superintendent Dunn must have had exceptional reason or he would not have made it.

Is the City Engineer to be the judge of the Firemen's requirements? Must it be necessary for him to dress and walk to the scene of the fire from Newtown Road to "spy out the land" for himself, before issuing his order? He may have had reasons for withholding instructions, but I would like to hear them. Probably one of them was that the stufes were as they are still covered with snow.

I fail to see why Mr. Ryan found it necessary to explain the insufficient water supply, by attempting to fasten the blame for it on the Firemen. By the exercise of a little of the co-operation he advocates, he could have ascertained from the Central Fire Hall, that on severe frosty nights, such as the night of the "Palace fire," the pressure at the Garrison Hill hydrant, registers between 40 and 50 lbs., and a dozen words could explain the shortage. The pressure was reduced by taps running on the lower levels to prevent freezing.

About a month or so before the "Star Hall Fire" you informed me there was only one 4 inch main in the city. The one at Winter Avenue. At our interview with the City Engineer, after that fire, you were amazed to find that there were 14 hydrants attached to 4 inch mains in different parts of the city and you immediately took up the subject of the substitution of 6 inch mains there for. Your activity in this connection leads me to hope that any defects which may come to light as the result of Mr. Ryan's report and my reply, will receive speedy attention.

Will you please bring this communication before the next meeting of Commissioners, and give it the same publicity as was accorded the Engineer's report.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,
CHARLES H. HUTCHINGS,
Inspector General Constabulary.

Fine Weather For Woodsmen

The weather experienced in the northern parts of Newfoundland this winter has been a marked contrast to that which prevailed in this part of the country.

While the city was in throes of the worst blizzards known for over forty years the people of North Bame and White Bays enjoyed calm sunny days with not a particle of falling snow to be seen. From the middle of January to the last of February there were only three snowy days, and with moderate wind. On the whole the snow fall in this region is only between two and three feet in depth with an almost entire absence of drifts and snow banks. No very severe frost has been experienced, fifteen degrees below zero being the coldest, and on only about a half dozen nights has the thermometer dropped below the zero mark.

It has thus been a remarkable favorable season for logging operations and all the saw mills will have a sufficiency of logs from the forest to keep them busy next summer.

Good work is also being done in the cutting of pit props and pulp timber. Last fall when it became known that in many parts of the north, owing to the poor fishery, a lot of people needed some means of earning sufficient money to tide them over the winter, the Government very wisely decided to allow the cutting of pit prop and pulp timber during the winter in these places. This work is being done under Government inspection through the supervision of capable men, especially selected by the Government for this purpose on account of their expert knowledge of forestry. We are glad to learn that through the effective supervision of these inspectors only first class timber is being cut. Splendid work has been accomplished so far and all the men engaged in this branch of the logging business are making good wages.

Owing to the poor class of timber exported as pit props during the winter, Newfoundland wood acquired a rather poor reputation amongst mine owners in Britain. The number one article which will be shipped abroad next summer as the result of Intelligent Government inspection will, it is hoped, serve to remove this black mark against us and help thereby to increase materially the market price of any further shipments that may be made in the future.

In this, as in every other matter, it will be seen that the present Government works for the best interests of the country.

Labor's Remedies Defined.

(London Daily Herald)

The Labor Party is pledged to force the attention of Parliament on to unemployment. The numbers of the unemployed grow; thousands of men and women (every single one of them) as much importance as any of the distinguished politicians who monopolize the limelight and draw large salaries) have been thrown into literal starvation by the cessation of the eight weeks' dole; hundreds of thousands more are dragging on in semi-starvation; the number of men, women and children affected by unemployment and under-employment runs into many millions. That is the situation. Labor's remedies are clear; opening up of trade with Russia and

The Hr. Main Election.

Polling Day has arrived. The booths in the District close at 4 p.m., and the booth in the city at the Shell Factory, Water St. West, closes at 8 p.m. The result will be known during the early hours of Monday morning, and we believe that it will show a substantial victory for the Government candidates, Messrs M. E. Hawco and Charles Furey.

As a fight between two parties, the Government forces have won easily. The Tories acknowledge their defeat by their use of the sectarian cry, evidence of which is found in another column. We have also reports of similar appeals being made throughout the week. It is unnecessary to comment at the present time upon such a matter.

The Tory Sectarian Game

Hon. R. A. Squires,
St. John's.

AVONDALE, March 12.—Mc Donald and Lewis held meeting at Conception last night. Notorious Mac fired the last shot by trying to spring sectarianism, but the audience didn't fall for it. The people are disgusted, particularly to his reference to July 12th.

FUREY.

A Landslide for Government

(Special to the Advocate)

CONCEPTION HR., March 12.—Turks Gut, which was a Woodford stronghold in last election, swung entirely to Furey and Hawco following a wonderfully enthusiastic meeting last night. Lewis made an inflammatory speech at an open air meeting in the afternoon, but the public meeting in the night showed that ninety per cent. of the voters were for the Squires candidates. Mr. Denis Shea was Chairman and the principal speaker was Capt. Leo Murphy, who for over an hour discussed the issues surrounding the election. Everyone admits a landslide for Government candidates. TO FINISH THE PURCHASE OF BEAUMONT HAMEL BATTLEFIELD

We commend the following appeal to our readers, the great majority of whom are in the Outports. It will be remembered that Hon. W. F. Coaker suggested that the purchase money for this Field of Sacrifice, rendered sacred by the blood of so many of our brave men, be contributed by a general collection throughout the Island. Mrs. John Browning took hold of the task of collecting the ten thousand dollars necessary, and we hope to find that outport town will at once organize a concert or sociable in aid of the fund. Any money sent to this paper will be acknowledged and sent to the Treasurer. Let the response be an immediate one.

Our contributors all over the Island few words. As we walked we picked up a rifle, at another place a belt no mention has been made of the Beaumont Hamel Fund. Though the Committee had hoped to ensure the purchase of the battlefield by the people of Newfoundland by July 1st of last year, the donations continued to come in slowly through the summer and the last amounts received and acknowledged in the newspapers brought the fund up to $5,428.47. Through other monies assured, the fund will be raised to about $6,500. This leaves a balance of $3,500 still to be obtained before the people of this country have finished the purchase of this battlefield, so particularly connected with Newfoundland's sons. Owing to the approach of Winter it was decided to place the money in the Bank at interest and finish the amount this year. We say "finish," for we know that the wish of every Newfoundlander is with us; and if we all unite in just one effort the amount will be realized.

And what is this effort? Only this: We ask every town and every settlement, no matter how small when they read this please to prepare at once to hold an entertainment for this purpose. Whatever entertainment you may wish, concert play, card-party, whatever you think will bring in most money. We do not ask for a sacrifice, you have sacrificed enough, but we do ask you young people especially throughout the Island, just to do this one little thing for the proud possession of this land.

Dr. J. A. Robinson in his most interesting articles on "The Trail of the Caribou," has given us a very vivid picture of this scene of, shall we say "massacre." Having also had the privilege of visiting it may I add a

We take this opportunity of thanking all those who have already contributed; all those who collected, among whom was such a great majority of school-teachers, a splendid example of patriotism to the younger generation.

We cannot continue a big campaign in the newspapers for this. It would not be fair to continue to impose on the great generosity of the editors, besides, knowing the hearts of the people we feel sure that this one appeal is enough.

If there is anything we can do to help the young people in their plan of entertainment, we will gladly do it and we ask you to send all money to Mrs. Eric Ayre, St. John's, as before.

VOTING AT SUDBURY

To-day the voting for those of Hr. Main District who are working in the city or living temporarily here began at Sudbury building, formerly the munition works, shortly after 8 a.m. at which hour the booth opened. Up to 12 o'clock, noon, 37 votes had been recorded, two of the number being illiterate, each recording a vote for the Government and Opposition. The partisans of both parties are very active and during the day enthusiasts drove in sleighs to and from the polling booth and generally "whooped her up." It is not believed that many more than 100 votes will be cast in the city.

None of the men who sell produce here Saturday could get to the city to-day owing to the condition of the roads and only 8 or 10 came along on the Shore train yesterday. The poll closes here at 8 o'clock this evening. The impression around the polling station to-day is that the district of Harbor Main will endorse the stand of the whole country taken on November 3rd, 1919 and return the popular Government candidates, Hawco and Furey with splendid majorities. There is every reason for believing thus as the people of Hr. Main, always a good old Liberal district, realize that the present progressive Liberal Reform Government will give this important section of Newfoundland the best possible attention and will help materially in the development of its undoubted agricultural resources, which were so sadly neglected while the Tories held sway. It is recognized that it is not so much a question of who will win but how large will be the plurality of the Government candidates be.

ILLITERATE VOTE ALMOST 100% IN FAVOR OF FUREY AND HAWCO

A gentleman in the city received a message shortly before 1 p.m. informing him that up to 12.30 to-day 19 illiterate votes had been cast in Manuels Booth. Of these 18 were for Furey and Hawco, while only one had been given to the Cashin-Morine candidates—Jones and Lewis.

"Double-Crossed At Yap."

(Chicago Daily Tribune.)

The basis of the American demand upon the Council of the League of Nations for a re-opening of type C mandates is the assertion that an agreement understood at Versailles was not carried out. The State Department does not say that Mr. Wilson was tricked, but that necessarily is implied. Japan's possession of the Pacific Islands is provided in the C class of acquisitions. Mr. Wilson thought he was asking the peace conference that Yap, with its cables and radios, be internationalized. He thought, it is explained, that this was understood and agreed to. It seems that he spoke. No one said anything. An agreement was implied. No mention of it is to be found in the minutes of the session, and Japan was given Yap in the distribution of the German Islands. New Zealand, Australia and Japan benefiting.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 12.—Three cities in Southern Russia, Kiev, Katerinoslav and Odessa were recently captured by Ukrainian revolutionaries led by Simon Petlura, peasant leader, and General Makno. Recent advices would seem to indicate that Odessa had been occupied. General Makno appears to be in authority at Katerinoslav and reports allege Jewish programs have been in progress.

THANKS MR. HIBBS FOR HIS ASSISTANCE

Marooned At Port Albert For A Week.

Editor Evening Advocate:

Dear Sir.—You doubtless remember that in the early part of January lumbering operations under the A. N. D. Company were almost completely closed down. Anyway at least two-thirds of their lumbering men were left without employment, which making the time of year into consideration and the hardship on men to get to their homes meant a great inconvenience to those concerned. Had the said company or its directors given their employees any intimation as to what would likely happen they would have spared the latter much unnecessary expense and trouble, or had the collapse in labour taken place a few days before it did, men would have secured passage to their homes by the different mail-boats. I think that a company possessing such admirable qualities as the A. N. D. should have added to its reputation by acting a little more squarely with their men, and notify them as to their possibility of being left without employment. I happened to be engaged with said company at that time and on coming to Lewisport, found it impossible to get to Fogo Island as slob conditions did not permit boat calling there. Yet it was impossible to travel, it being neither fast nor open. I was one of the landed the succeeding day on Fogo Albert and was marooned there nearly a week.

I hereby take occasion to thank our member, Mr. Hibbs, for his generosity and kindness in our behalf. When we wired him for information re boats we received all the satisfaction could be desired. We understand that through his agency the S. S. Clyde (then on her last trip north) was directed to call and take us to Fogo Island, the conditions for her doing so at the time were anything but favorable owing to heavy slob ice being packed in the run, yet Captain Knee succeeded in reaching Furzeville, a distance of three miles from Port Albert. From thence we travelled and got on board, and were landed the proceeding day on Fogo Island, where we returned to our homes.

Again I thank Mr. Hibbs for his influence used in our behalf and I surely consider his action a very commendable one and I feel sure that these thirty men from all parts of Fogo Island, will join with me in extending to him a warm handshake when again he has occasion to visit our district.

I am, yours, etc.,

Boys and Girls

Young people should save a goodly share of their smiles and kind words for their dear ones at home. Tell the big brother how clever and stunning he looks in his new suit. He'll throw back his shoulders and laugh, but his laugh will come straight from his heart and he'll remember the compliment long after you have forgotten it.

Help little sister in her play. She will have wonderful confidence in you and, by and by when she is grown up and you are not as young and pretty as you now are, she will be very kind to you and it will make you very happy.

Don't become impatient at the "little ways" of your dear ones. Strangers are not thinking about you or any member of your family, but you all may be far happier if you feel that a certain group of ones dear to you are thinking about and planning for your happiness all the time.

Proper Manners

"With whom does the bride walk when entering a church to be married? She is to be given away by an uncle," said Barbara.

"Enter on the arm of your uncle. At the altar you will meet the bridegroom and best man. You leave on the arm of the groom," said her sister.

I will consider it a favor if you will allow me to add my testimonial to the many hundreds you no doubt have in praise of the great results effected by the D. D. D. Prescription. I was a sufferer for two years with eczema on the legs and ankles. I tried three or four different doctors and none of them did me any good. I then went to a skin specialist but he was no better than they. I was reading the Sunday paper and happened to see your ad. I am very glad that I did.

I secured a trial bottle of D. D. D. and it did me so much good that I sent for a dollar bottle, also a cake of soap. That is all I used, and I am perfectly well. I have advised several others to use it and the results have been the same. You are at liberty to use my name for I consider D. D. D. the best remedy in use.

THE CALCUTTA FIRE BRIGADE which protects an area of over 113 square miles, with a population of about one and a half millions, had heavy work last year. There were 550 fires, and the damage caused by fire and water was estimated at about $11,520,000 being an increase of about $5,000,000 over last year. The most serious outbreak was the fire at the Hanuman Jute Press at Quosoby, in Howrah, where the damage was estimated at $400,000. The total number of fatalities during the year was 46, as compared with 10 in the previous year. Of these five persons died, including a European. Among 41 persons injured there were 10 Europeans and 31 Indians.

The Sickbed Lady

Nurse says that a spoon of adhesive or surgeons plaster is a very necessary adjunct to the medicine shelf in every home. It is a good covering for cuts, it strengthens strained fingers and wrists if it is tightly wrapped around them, and if a shoe rubs the foot in a particular spot, the trouble ends when a piece of plaster is used.

But besides these small things it can be brought into service when the cuts and bruises are healed. Labels, made of this plaster and written in ink, for tin and glass jars, prove far more durable than paper labels. A hot water bag may be mended with this too, if it does not require too hot water. If a finger nail splits a tiny piece of plaster may be put over the nail and kept there until the nail grows out and can be filed. In this way it saves the nail from tearing down to the quick and making a tiny sore.

The Woes of Mrs. Newlywed

"I have some ribbons that have mildewed while being laid away," said Mrs. Newlywed. "Can you tell me how to clean them?"

"Take lemon juice mixed with an equal amount of salt, powdered starch and soft soap. Rub thickly on the spots, renewing until the spots disappear," said Mrs. Neighbor.

L.O.A. Will Celebrate Its 50th Anniversary At Bonavista In April.

Function Will Last A Week And 1200
Will Sit Down To Banquet.

The L.O.A. here intend celebrating are of the denominational system, as its fiftieth anniversary in April. They intend holding it for a week. A parade through the town and a repast on the evening of the 21st is anticipated. About 1,200 people are to be provided for, as they intend inviting the Orange Young Britons as a body, also delegates from other Lodges in the Island. For this occasion they have hired the Newman's Cove Band and together with its own brass band comprises about twenty five instruments. The bandmen are making rapid strides toward efficiency under Bandmaster Harris, who is a born musician. The band is in charge of the Young Britons, they playing it since 1916, when it was passed over to them. Some of the music which they will play on the march is certainly worth hearing, and one of the Orange-men's favorites called 'Crossing the Bayne' is on the hum again. There are about 485 members in good standing here, and it is the strongest society in town. One cannot attend their meetings without feeling benefited by so doing, after listening to the discussions carried on. The present Master who is certainly a specimen of what a leader should be, is Mr. A. G. Reader. Every meeting is sure to have in it some entertainment either by the Rev. Chas. Lench, Dr. C. A. Forbes, or some other capable and proficient speaker.

The co-operation and friendly relationship between the L.O.A. and the Society of United Fishermen is worthy of commendation.

The act of the latter Society in treating their deceased brother William Faulkner, so kind and brotherly should be taken by other societies as an example. Much credit is due these men for the interest taken by them in always looking after their sick brethren so nobly.

Rumor has it that there are to be certain vacancies at the light house at Cape Bonavista in the near future. Now is the time for the Government to help the returned disabled soldier. Surely these positions will not be filled by able-bodied men. Give the veterans a chance instead of sending them to work at Sydney, the lumber-woods or elsewhere, which work they cannot do.

We were short of certain articles of diet for some time, as the train was snow bound for about three weeks. Much credit is due to the Union Store and Hon. Philip Templeman for the way in which they managed to get supplies over from the S. S. Senat at Port Union, thus relieving the situation greatly.

Education is the main issue of the present age, without it one must stay in the back ground. More learning is needed right here. Here the schools

Choose Hatching Eggs With Care

Poor Results Often Unjustly Blamed on the Incubator or Mother Hen.

SHAPE IS ALSO IMPORTANT.

Avoid Cracks and Dirty Shells. Washing is Bad—No Way to Determine Sex.

By H. ARMSTRONG ROBERTS

It is a mistake to assume that hatching starts with the operation of placing eggs inside of an incubator or under a setting hen. Therefore, if poor hatches result, it is wrong to condemn the incubator or the hen, without first investigating all conditions preliminary to the actual hatching process.

Sometimes the eggs are at fault. Usually such is the cause of poor hatches. And it is highly probable that the poultryman is responsible for the shortcomings in the eggs.

Strictly speaking, the first step in hatching begins in the mating of the breeding pens; the second step is in the selection of the eggs which have hatchable qualities; while the third step might be called the care of the eggs prior to hatching.

All of these factors have a greater influence on the number of chicks hatched than is popularly supposed. In fact, there is no phase of poultry raising which reflects so much on the exact stamina and productive qualities of a flock of fowls as incubation, providing the caretaker will but stir himself to look into the matter.

It is foolhardy to attempt to secure strong, healthy, vigorous offspring from anaemic, sickly, inbred parent stock. Prime hatching eggs are laid by fowls in prime condition. Strong chicks are hatched from prime eggs. These are natural, common-sense laws from which there is no escape and no evasion.

Hatching Need Not Be Gamble

As pointed out in preceding articles on mating the breeding stock, the poultryman must see to it that the parent fowls possess all the requirements of a given breed, and that they are in sound health. Until these conditions are established beyond all doubt, hatching is a gamble.

It need not be the gamble that some fear, if the breeding stock is in perfect health, and if the feeding and housing conditions are as they should be, because incubation is really a very simple process.

In cold weather hatching eggs should be gathered several times a day to prevent chilling. In hot weather they must be collected frequently to prevent heating. Do not allow the eggs to remain in the nest for long periods, during which time they are covered by a number of laying hens, since each hen contributes warmth which starts the development of the embryo within the egg.

Fifty-five degrees Fahrenheit is about the best temperature in which to hold eggs preparatory to hatching. The atmosphere should be moderately moist, to prevent undue evaporation, yet not damp enough to create mold. Keep the eggs away from drafts and from fumes or gases which might have a harmful effect. And set the eggs as soon as possible after they are laid. For best results they should not be held more than ten days, during which time they should be turned daily, so as to alter the position of the yolk, to prevent the life-germ from coming into contact with and adhering to the shell lining.

Choose Only Well-Shaped Eggs

Having observed these preliminaries do not think that all eggs are eligible for hatching. Strong, healthy fowls do not always lay well-shaped eggs. On the contrary, it is doubtful if more than 75 per cent. of the eggs laid are perfect enough in shape and texture of shell to be called hatchings eggs.

The experienced poultryman insists upon well-shaped eggs with which to fill his incubator. Not only in this essential to the actual hatching capacity of the eggs, but it goes a long way toward flock improvement generally. Eggs which are well-shaped and normal are almost certain to produce chickens which will later mature and lay well-shaped eggs, in which event the buyer is enabled to secure better prices for his products by reason of uniformity.

The ideal hatching egg is the "egg-shaped" specimen, nicely rounded at one end, with a gradual taper to the other, and having a firm shell of good texture, free from bumps, corrugations and other imperfections. Avoid eggs with very thin shells or exceedingly thick shells, or those with tiny cracks. Cracks mean excessive evaporation during the hatching—may be ruptured blood vessels.

A good plan is to sound the egg that is under suspicion as to cracks.

Types of brood coops and yards intended for sitting hens, though similar structures may be utilized for artificial brooding by making the coops a little larger and fitting them with small lamp-burning, portable hovers.

Tap it gently with a lead pencil or finger tip; the sound will reveal the existence of a crack, otherwise invisible, perhaps.

Select eggs that run of medium size and uniform as to color and shape. By that is meant, let the selection be governed by the average product of the flock rather than by some arbitrary standard. Eggs that should be considered abnormally large on one farm, might be reckoned as normal on another farm, or even medium-size on a third farm.

Discard all eggs which are unusually long, too round, flattened on one side, elliptical, wedge-shaped and those which have a pronounced excrescence or ridge in the shell. All such eggs might be termed monstrosities, and cannot be expected to hatch successfully.

Imperfect Shells Hinder Chicks

It is understood, of course, that the shell is entirely independent of the embryo. The egg with a malformed shell may possess a strong germ capable of normal development, but if the shell is seriously malformed the chick will be unable to break its way through at hatching time. That is the reason for selecting shells with such care.

The shell of an egg exceedingly porous, which enables the embryo to take in oxygen through the shell, otherwise it could not breathe. During the early stages of incubation a network of blood vessels surround the inner membrane of the egg, close to the shell. These blood vessels absorb the oxygen and act as the respiratory apparatus for the embryo until about the nineteenth day of incubation, when the lungs are completed and brought into use.

Obviously, anything that tends to close the pores in the shell also tends to suffocate the embryo and to destroy it. Therefore, badly soiled eggs should not be used for hatching purposes.

To wash the eggs is likely to make matters worse, inasmuch as the washing process usually forces the particles of dirt deeper in to the pores. Moreover, on the shell of the fresh egg there is a mucilaginous coating which is intended to protect the porous exterior of the shell and to prevent undue evaporation of the contents of the egg. Washing destroys this coating, or "bloom," which is harmful.

Sitting hens sometimes break an egg or two, which damage is apt to mess things up for the rest of the eggs. Rather than allow the hatch to go on with some of the eggs thickly coated with the contents of the broken eggs, it is best to make some effort to clean them. Scrape the soiled eggs with a knife blade; this will remove the bulk of the damage.

A Quick Relief for Headache

A headache is usually caused by badly digested food; the gases and acids resulting therefrom are absorbed by the blood which in turn irritates the nerves and causes painful symptoms called headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup will correct faulty digestion and afford relief.

which is equal to more than fifty per cent. of the total mining products of the whole Province.

It is felt in Government circles that a great deal of employment could be ensured in the Province by the enforced establishment of plants for the manufacture of asbestos and asbesth in Quebec, and that this would not only encourage the industrial development of the Province but be more effective than any tariff imposed on the exportation of the raw material.

HOUSE FALLS 25 FEET

While Mr. John Farthing of Herring Neck was hauling his house one day this week the sticks on which it was sliding collapsed and it fell over a 25 foot cliff on its front side. Luckily the damage was comparatively slight—two panes of glass and six sleepers broken.

The house was being taken down over a 25 foot cliff when the sticks on which it was sliding snapped off. The "back-up" tackles held and the house swung in against the cliff and it was against the cliff wall that the sleepers were broken, it then fell to the ice, lying flat on its front side. Examination showed comparatively little damage, and the haul was continued, this time with the house lying on its side.

At its destination it had to be pulled up over another hill and this partly righted it, and with the aid of some screw jacks it was got in position, and found to be little the worse for its journey.

QUEBEC CONTROL OF ASBESTOS INDUSTRY

QUEBEC, Feb. 19.—The Government, it is reported, is considering the question of putting the asbestos mining industry of the province under control, in the same way as it has the pulpwood industry, providing that in the development of the asbestos mines it shall be a condition of the leasing of rights that plants be established in the Province of Quebec for the manufacture or partial manufacture of this material.

At the present moment the Province of Quebec supplies 85 per cent. of the asbestos requirements of the world, but very little of it is manufactured in the province, most of the plants being established in the United States or else the raw material is shipped abroad. During the year 1919-20 the total shipments of asbestos amounted to 174,521 tons, valued at $11,758,274.

THE ST. JOHN'S TIMES

A new weekly paper, the St. John's Times makes its bow to the public to-day under the Editorship and Proprietorship of Mr. J. R. Smallwood, a newspaper-man who in the brief course of the three or four years he has been in journalism has made a name for himself which other members of the profession might well envy. Mr. Smallwood has not been content to have his newspaper experience limit itself to the somewhat narrow confines of the field of local journalism. He has wandered for a field, and in his wandering he has rubbed shoulders with some of the biggest men in the profession. His journalistic experiences of ideas which he intends trying out in his native city, and if energy, intelligence and an unbounded optimism may be regarded as assurances of success there Mr. Smallwood's venture will be successful. The St. John's Times is somewhat unlike the other city weeklies in that one of its chief promises is the dealing with international questions of current interest, while at the same time local matters of vital interest will continue to receive that amount of attention which their importance may demand.

The Times is, and we predict will continue to be a non-political, liberal paper and if the first issue, which is full of matter of the greatest interest, may be taken as an indication of what future numbers of the paper will be we bespeak for it a warm welcome in the houses of the city, and in a short time in the houses of the reading public all over the country. The publisher has our best wishes for continued success.

QUEBEC MAN SAYS HE WAS FORCED TO GIVE UP HIS WORK

Dublois Says Tanlac Has Put Him In Absolutely Perfect Condition.

"I certainly can recommend Tanlac, and am glad to do so, for what it has done for me is nothing short of wonderful," said Sylvester Dublois, 22 St. Elizabeth St., Montreal, P.Q., well known electrician, recently.

"Before I got Tanlac indigestion robbed me of many a good meal, for I had no appetite at all, and knew if I ate anything it would give me no end of trouble. I was so bad off I couldn't eat, work or sleep with any satisfaction, and was so nervous the least little unusual noise would startle me. I had cramping pains in my stomach, and at times my heart palpitated so I could hardly get my breath, and just any little exertion would make my heart thump like a steam engine. Finally I got so weak and was suffering so I just had to give up my work, for I couldn't stay with it any longer."

"Well, after I had quit work I got to reading about Tanlac, and finally decided to try it. Soon after I started taking it I saw it was the right medicine for my troubles, so I kept taking it, and now I feel like a brand new man. My stomach seems to be in perfect condition now. My appetite is fine, I eat and sleep like a child and work like a Trojan. In fact, I'm in the pink of condition, and Tanlac gets all the credit for my good health."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, in Musgrave Harbor by T. W. Abbott, in Badger's Quay by John T. Luckett, in New Perlican by E. J.
